MacYTDL Release Notes – Version 1.27.1

- The correct version of FFmpeg is now installed for all users on macOS versions 10.12 and earlier – version 6.0 of 28 February 2023. Previously, the wrong version was installed for those using MacYTDL for the first time.

    - Consequently, the FFmpeg update facility in "Utilities" is hidden for those users as the most recent compatible version is installed.

- The correct version of FFmpeg is now sourced for users on 10.13, 10.14, 10.15 and 11. Source has been moved from binaries compiled for macOS 12+ to another source which has Intel binaries compiled for macOS 10.13+.

- The position of the Main dialog is now saved on Quit as well as when opening the Utilities or Settings dialogs.

- The Send-URL-to-MacYTDL service should work in Firefox. Previously, it was not getting the URL from the address bar.

- Users on OS X 10.10, 10.11 and 10.12 can no longer use the ABC (Australia) iView "chooser" to download multiple episodes. This is because the version of curl installed does not present the correct certificates to the iView web site.
